CONFLICT MINERALS POLICY

POWER BUS WAY Ltd., is not subject to U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) rules, but however respect that some customers may have their own reporting obligations under Conflict Minerals rules.

POWER BUS WAY Ltd. in the production process of some of products, may use materials or parts that contain the Conflict Mineral 'TIN'.

Therefore, following the principles of business ethics and social responsibility in the supply chain, POWER BUS WAY Ltd., does not knowingly use 'TIN' derived from the Conflict Region in its products and does not purchase this raw material directly from mines. Additionally, POWER BUS WAY Ltd. requests its suppliers to provide a statement about the origin of this metal, including the identification of smelters and refineries.

Based upon information provided by suppliers, POWER BUS WAY Ltd. prepares a Conflict Minerals Reporting Template (CMRT), which shows the origin of the minerals used (TIN). This template can be made available to customers on request.

POWER BUS WAY Ltd., makes every effort to ensure that it does not undertake cooperation with tin suppliers not operating in accordance with this policy. A copy of this policy is accessible to all employees electronically, and on our company's website.
